

Open Call for Grant Review Panelists

California's people are its most treasured resource.

A diverse panel pool ensures the integrity of our grant review process for all applicants, representative of our state's racial, ethnic, and gender identities; eclectic geography; and wealth of organizations, perspectives, and knowledge.

Gain insight into grantmaking and lend your voice to the process by joining a grant application review panel. We're looking for cultural workers, artists and arts field professionals with experience in:

- arts learning for youth
- creative placemaking/ placekeeping
- cultural development
- juvenile and social justice
- nonprofit management
- arts programming for veteran populations and people
- with disabilities other relevant lines of work
- other relevant lines of work

“Each individual brings a unique and important perspective to the table, and it's important for artists to learn from one another as we share a common goal of cultivating an equitable and welcome arts landscape.”

— KHIMBERLY MARHSALL

Recent Panelist, Sacramento County

How It Works

Panelists independently review assigned applications online before meeting in Sacramento to collaboratively rank applications. Rankings are then brought before the California Arts Council body to inform funding decisions.

Support

Panelists receive a $100 honorarium for each day of service in Sacramento in addition to in-state travel, accommodations, and per diem.

Apply now

For more information or to apply online, go to www.arts.ca.gov/panelist.

Deadline: November 2, 2019

Panelists selected to serve during the spring 2020 grant panel season will be contacted by CAC staff between January and April.
